

Destination Mars: Public and Private Entities Join Forces to Re-Invigorate Space Travel

Jul 16, 2018

Lowndes CEO and President Bill Dymond discusses the future of the space travel industry with I4 Business Magazine.

"In a short period of time, we are seeing a great deal of manufacturing occur, and we're positioned for growth in the future," commented Dymond.

"Space Florida can help foster and fuel that private sector development," Dymond added. "We're helping government invest in infrastructure, which makes it possible for private companies to do what they do best. ... The private sector moves more quickly, and now there is competition in the mix."
