Camilo Sansores is an attorney in the firm's Land Use, Zoning & Environmental Group, assisting clients with zoning, permitting, development approvals, and regulatory matters. He brings a strong business background and a solid foundation in due diligence, cross-departmental collaboration, and legal analysis to support complex land use and development projects.

Originally from Mexico, Camilo earned his J.D. from the University of Miami School of Law. As a two-time summer law clerk at the firm, he worked across the Corporate & Tax, Commercial Litigation, and Real Estate departments, conducting due diligence for multimillion-dollar transactions, drafting demand letters, and researching complex legal issues.

Before law school, Camilo held planning and operations roles at L'Oréal, where he developed analytical and project management skills. He also gained early legal experience managing a small business, where he drafted basic contracts including promissory notes and lease agreements.

Camilo holds a bachelor's degree in Legal Studies from the University of Miami School of Business. Fluent in Spanish, he has long held a passion for the legal system and moved to the United States to pursue a career in law.
