February 2, 2026 - Orlando, FL – Lowndes, one of Central Florida's largest and most established law firms, today announced the completion of its acquisition of Rossway, Swan, Tierney, Barry & Oliver, P.L. (Rossway Swan). Effective February 1, former Rossway Swan attorneys and staff have officially joined Lowndes, extending the firm's presence along Florida's east coast.

The combination adds depth to Lowndes' capabilities in business and corporate law, real estate, litigation, family law, estate planning, guardianship, and health care, while expanding its footprint in Brevard, Indian River, and Miami-Dade counties.

"This marks an important step in Lowndes' ongoing growth as a comprehensive Florida law firm," said Quino Martinez, CEO and Managing Shareholder of Lowndes. "Rossway Swan's respected team brings strengths that further enhance the service and support we provide to clients throughout the state."

"Joining Lowndes allows our team to continue serving clients with the values and dedication that have always guided our practice," said Kevin M. Barry, formerly Managing Member of Rossway Swan and now a Shareholder at Lowndes. "With expanded resources and a broader platform, we can strengthen our offerings while maintaining the trusted relationships our clients rely on."

Since the original announcement, one former Rossway Swan attorney was appointed by Governor DeSantis to serve as a judge on the 19th Judicial Circuit Court.

Attorneys previously with Rossway Swan are now practicing under the Lowndes name in Vero Beach, Miami, and Melbourne. Personnel from the Melbourne office have relocated to Lowndes' new office at 730 East Strawbridge Avenue, Suite 200, Melbourne, Florida 32901.

The Vero Beach and Miami offices will continue at their existing locations:

Vero Beach
2101 Indian River Boulevard, Suite 200
Vero Beach, Florida 32960

Miami (by appointment only)
4960 SW 72nd Avenue, Suite 311
Miami, Florida 33155

Lowndes' headquarters remains at 215 North Eola Drive, Orlando, Florida 32801.
