

Minimizing Bear Incidents in Residential Subdivisions

Article

Lowndes

10.16.2018

Residential developments in Florida increasingly encroach into black bear habitat. While not typically aggressive, bears can cause problems, including property damage and personal injury. There are ways that a developer, homebuilder or manager of a homeowners' association (HOA) can minimize bear incidents in communities. If a bear attack occurs in your subdivision, you could face a liability claim if you knew bear incursions were likely and did nothing to ameliorate them... To read the article in full, click on the attachment below.

Minimizing Bear Incidents in Residential Subdivision

Related Attorneys

Gary M. Kaleita

Related Expertise

Real Estate Development