

Insights

Wellness Push Into Senior Living Facilities

Gray Area of the Law Blog

Lowndes

10.06.2021

Covid has changed the way that many of us live, and certainly the way that many of us do business. Throughout many industries, there is an increased push towards wellness initiatives (including at Lowndes).

One of the ideas percolating in the senior living industry is towards a “person-centric wellness model,” which shifts away from wider, organizational-centric models for wellness, and instead – as the name indicates – focuses on individual plans for wellness.

Related Attorneys

S. Brendan Lynch

Related Expertise

Senior Housing