

An abstract background image with dark, swirling, and curved shapes in shades of orange, red, and purple, creating a sense of motion and depth.

Insights

Who Owns Your Invention: Beware of Contract Language

Article

Orlando Inno

12.01.2021

Shareholder and registered patent attorney Stephen Thomas authored an article entitled, "Who Owns Your Invention: Beware of Contract Language," for Orlando Inno. The article discusses the pitfalls of using boilerplate employment and subcontractor agreements, including potentially jeopardizing ownership of a patent all together.

Read the article: Who Owns Your Invention: Beware of Contract Language

Related Attorneys

Stephen C. Thomas

Related Expertise

Intellectual Property

Patents